All the detail...

1. 90-minute annual update

Delivered by your key lawyer and covering legislation and case law changes, as well as people trends to have on your agenda. The session can be delivered in-person or remotely.

2. Two training slide decks

Sent to you every six months to deliver yourself internally. We include presenter notes, supporting video, and FAQs to ensure you have all the tools to deliver the content effectively.

3. Six newsletters

Sent to you every other month for you to tailor to your branding and share internally with your team. Covering 'need-to-know' employment law changes and updates.

4. Free training opportunities

You'll get free priority access to any webinars and in-person training sessions that we host throughout the year covering topical issues and developments.

Making an impact

Training should encourage personal growth, confidence and engagement. How does our annual training subscription help you make the right impact?

It's straight-talking — whether we're delivering the training or supporting you with the materials to upskill your team, we spend hours making sure we turn complex people laws into easy to follow, bitesize information. We don't use jargon. We help you get to the point. We ensure things are easy to understand and practically useful.

It's solutions-focussed — knowing about new employment laws is just part of the training puzzle. This subscription supports you with implementation on new people laws and trends by sharing our thoughts on practical solutions. Our approach creates opportunities for your team to think through their actions and how they're going to deliver practically effective solutions within your organisation.

It's proactive — we want to help you push boundaries and go one better by turning employment law requirements into future opportunities. This subscription facilitates expanded thinking and creative challenge to help you build exceptional and progressive people strategies that make an impact. It also lightens your load — we do the training leg work for you to allow you to focus on your people strategy.
